KEY RISKS

What are the key risks associated with these funds?

General risks

- Capital and returns not guaranteed
The fund is exposed to a variety of risks by nature of the investments it is engaged in. As such, the fund does not provide a guarantee on capital contributed nor does it guarantee a fixed rate return.
- Inflation risk
Inflation risk refers to the loss in purchasing power of your investment returns due to a general increase in prices of goods and services. If the returns from your investments do not keep pace with the inflation rate, the real rate of returns from these investments will be impacted.
- Legal and regulatory risk
Changes in laws and regulations in the countries that the fund is invested in may impact the investments of the fund. Apart from this, there is also the risk that changes in laws/regulations/guidelines relating to PRS could affect your account or accessibility to the monies in the account.
- Risks associated with the default option
Under the default option, your contribution will be automatically switched (regardless of NAV movement trends) into the relevant core fund upon reaching the prescribed age. At the point of switching, the unit price may be lower than the price you paid when you contributed into the fund, and as such, you will incur losses.

Specific risks

	PRS-IGRF	PRS-IMDF	PRS-ICVF
➤ Market risk Market risk refers to the possibility that an investment will lose value because of a general decline in financial markets, due to economic, political and/or other factors, which will result in a decline in the fund's NAV.	√	√
➤ Specific Shariah-compliant security risk Prices of a particular Shariah-compliant security may fluctuate in response to the circumstances affecting individual companies. As such, adverse price movements of a particular Shariah-compliant security invested by the fund may adversely affect the fund's NAV and unit price.	√	√	√
➤ Currency risk If the fund invests in Shariah-compliant assets denominated in foreign currency, the fund may be exposed to currency fluctuation risks. If the currencies in which the investments are denominated depreciate against the local currency, the fund's NAV may be adversely affected and vice versa. To mitigate such risk, the fund may undertake hedging strategies. However, the fund would not benefit from any potential upside if currencies move in the opposite direction of the hedging strategy.	√	√	√

What are the key risks associated with these funds? (cont'd)

	PRS-IGRF	PRS-IMDF	PRS-ICVF
➤ Country risk Funds with foreign Shariah-compliant investments may be affected by changes in the economic and political climate, restriction on currency repatriation or other developments in the law or regulations of the country in which the fund invests in. For example, the deteriorating economic condition of such countries may adversely affect the value of the investments undertaken by the fund in those affected countries. This in turn may cause the NAV of the fund or prices of units to fall.	√	√	√
➤ Liquidity risk Liquidity risk refers to the ease of liquidating an asset depending on the asset's volume traded in the market. If the fund holds assets that are illiquid, or are difficult to dispose of, the value of the fund will be negatively affected when it has to sell such assets at unfavourable prices.	√	√	√
➤ Interest rate risk Interest rate risk refers to the impact of interest rate changes on the valuation of sukuk, Islamic money market instruments and Islamic deposits. When interest rates rise, prices of sukuk generally decline and this may lower the market value of the fund's investment in sukuk. The reverse applies when interest rates fall. The returns of the fund's investments in Islamic money market instruments and Islamic deposits move in tandem with interest rates. A decline in interest rates will lower the returns of the fund's investments in Islamic money market instruments and Islamic deposits. For example, when interest rates fall, Islamic deposit placements would be reinvested at lower interest rates and subsequently yield lower returns to the fund.		√	√
➤ Credit risk Credit risk relates to the creditworthiness of the issuer of the sukuk or Islamic money market instruments and Islamic deposits which is dependent on the issuer's ability to make timely payments of profit or principal. In the event that the issuer of a sukuk or Islamic money market instruments and Islamic deposits defaults in the payment of profit and/or principal, the value of the fund may be adversely affected.		√	√
➤ Risk associated with investments in Shariah-compliant warrants The market price of Shariah-compliant warrants held by the fund will depend on the current market price of the underlying security, the exercise price of the Shariah-compliant warrants and the time to expiration of the Shariah-compliant warrants. Such investments may experience time decay, and the erosion of value accelerates as the Shariah-compliant warrant approaches its expiry date. Any adverse movements in the market price of the Shariah-compliant warrants may impact the fund's NAV and unit price.	√	√
➤ Risk of non-compliance with Shariah requirements This risk refers to the risk that the currently held Shariah-compliant shares in the fund may be reclassified as Shariah non-compliant in the periodic review of the shares by the Shariah Advisory Council of the Securities Commission Malaysia, the Shariah Adviser or the Shariah boards of the relevant Islamic indices. If this occurs, the PRS Provider will take the necessary steps to dispose such shares. There may be opportunity loss to the fund due to the fund not being allowed to retain the excess capital gains derived from the disposal of the Shariah non-compliant shares. The value of the fund may also be adversely affected in the event of a disposal of Shariah non-compliant shares at a price lower than the investment cost.	√	√	√

You are advised to read the disclosure document and understand the risks involved and, if necessary, consult your professional adviser before making contributions.
